BOOK SAFARI-HUNTING FOR THE RIGHT BOOK

Tuesday was Book Safari Day at our school this week. Students were divided into vertical groups and visited at least three different teachers. Each of whom had a different book to read with accompanying activities.

We had poetry-making, 'what makes me special' stars, song-writing, pastel bushfire pictures, chalk-drawings and drama and discussions.

Come to school on Friday to see the weird and wonderful characters who appear at our Book Parade. Don't forget the Book Sales from 9am to 1pm in the library.

STARGAZING AND WAYWARD ROCKETS

On Thursday 13th of August we had our annual Stargazing Night. It started at 6:30pm and finished at 9pm. As people arrived they heard the laughter of the Year 12s as they cooked the sausages on the BBQ. They also did a good job of entertaining us throughout the evening!

Once our stomachs were full, Mrs Smith pulled out the fuel rocket. We were waiting in anticipation for the launch. The chorus of voices from the little kids overwhelmed anyone talking nearby.

The rocket was launched and the whole thing went awry. The rocket's flight narrowly missed Mrs Smith and ended with it colliding with the office wall, sending sparks everywhere.

With a smile and a shrug, Mrs Smith told the stunned onlookers that the Year 8s were going to launch their water rockets. Some rockets were a success while others failed miserably. One particular rocket landed on its owner's head.

Next Mrs Smith brought out a smaller fuel rocket. This launch was a success. A search-party was sent to look for the fallen rocket! Although we didn't find it in the school grounds we returned to continue talking and looking through the telescope.

Thank you to the Yr 12s for cooking the sausages and thank you to Mrs Smith for making the night run as smoothly as possible.

SNOW MUCH FUN

On Sunday the 23rd of August, students from Year 8 through to Year 11 left CKC at 2:00pm for a three day snow camp.

When we arrived, we were fitted with our ski gear and equipment and then transported to the Valley Homestead in Myrtleford where we stayed for the duration of the camp.

On Monday, we woke bright and early, geared up, ate breakfast and set off to Mt. Hotham. The trip was stomach-turning for some. After a day of skiing we agreed that the tough trip up the mountain was well worth it. We returned home, enjoyed a great dinner and watched a movie.

On the second day of the camp we followed the same routine and headed up to Hotham for a great day of more experienced skiing. This involved negotiating some steep hills and a lot of falling over, which challenged some more than others. We returned home and enjoyed hot Milos and marshmallows around a bonfire.

The third and final day we were challenged by a variety of different activities including the Flying Fox, Vertical Slide and Power Pole. We then travelled back to CKC tired, but happy with our achievements.

Thankyou to all the teachers who made this possible and joined us on the camp, Ms. Doyle, Mrs. Smith and Mr. Scandrett.
